

SELECT MAY QUEEN FOR GIRLS' WEEK TO BE HELD HERE

Miss Gertrude Roberts Chosen By Judges from Group of Twenty

MISS CONNOR IS MAID

Garden Street Miss Accorded Second Honors By Judges

Bristol's May Day Queen has been selected.

To Miss Gertrude Roberts, Mill and Cedar streets, has the honor of representing the fair young women of the borough been accorded. The queen's maid of honor is to be Miss Doris Connor, of Garden street.

The selection of the queen and her maid was made at the home of Robert W. Bracken Post, American Legion, Radcliffe street, yesterday afternoon, when the group of girls from the public and parochial schools passed in review before a committee of seven judges.

The judges, all of whom reside outside of Bristol, were: Mrs. Florence Fredericks, Mrs. Hazel Mulhern, Croydon; Mrs. Lester Shoemaker, Mrs. A.
Russell Burton, of Tullytown; Mrs.
Parke Wetherill, Mrs. Theodore B.
McGargee and Mrs. George Hussey, Jr., of Edgely.

The group of 20 girls, pretty blondes and attractive brunettes, gave to the judges a hard task. Upon the dress of each contestant was placed a number, with the judges voting by number.
Ballots were cast for first and second choice, the one individual receiving the highest number of votes in each group to be adjudged the queen, with the girl securing the second highest number of votes, to act as the maid of honor.

After the young women had passed a number of times before those doing the selecting, they were divided into groups, the blondes being first voted upon and then the brunettes.

Miss Roberts received the highest number of votes, with Miss Connors second.

The two will participate in May Day activities during Girls' Week in Bristol, at which time two May pole dances will take place as well as many other activities. It is expected that beside the maid of honor, the queen will have about 16 other young women as her attendants.

A court jester has been chosen this individual being Miss Dorothy Unruh. With capers, jesting, and amusing stunts, will Miss Unruh amuse the May Queen and her attendants.

It is expected that the Queen will be crowned the latter part of Girls' Week, May 18th to 24th.

Those in charge of the contest yesterday were members of the committees directing activities for this week which promises much for the girls of Bristol.

Installs Modern Way Of Drying Kodak Prints

Chromium now makes its appearance in photographic equipment. The chromium high gloss machine just installed by the Nichols Studio is the latest device for drying and polishing kodak prints.

Prints are taken from the final wash water and placed in a solution of glycerin from which they are taken and placed face down on mirror-like chromium copper plates of which there are eight mounted on a chain belt.

This belt of plates carries the prints through a roller for squeezing thence over a heat unit which serves to dry them. They are automatically dropped off onto an apron from which they are taken to be sorted and placed in customer's envelope.

The result of this process is to transform an otherwise dull and lifeless print into a picture with pep.
The tone quality and detail is brought out and is far superior to the ordinary print. Mr. Nichols invites those interested to his studio to see this latest method of his modern equipped laboratory.

NEW YORKERS SPEND $1,000,000 UNDERGROUND

Huge Sum Spent Daily in The Stores and Places of Amusement

ALLED MODERN MOLES

NEW YORK, May 1.—(INS)—Noah Webster defines the mole as an "insectivorous mammal with a barrel-shaped body." But Webster created the dictionary in 1807. He died in 1843. During the passage of nearly a century a new species of mole has taken possession of the earth—the human mole of New York's vast underground system, who spends a $1,000,000 daily, and who travels about amid an investment that exceeds a billion dollars.

Today's modern mole still spends its life down in the ground. It still carries out the Websterian explanation of making extensive underground excavation in the "pursuit of earthworms." But the life of the modern mole in its burrows is one of convenience and luxury.

Buried in the rock foundation of Manhattan, often three, four and five stories beneath the surface of the street, the human mole can travel for years, obtaining all the necessities of life without ever gazing on the light of day. Thousands of New Yorkers earn their living underground, more than 6,000 being employed on the subway systems alone.

More than a million of the city's residents spend three-quarters of their wakeful hours in the city's tubes and basement establishments, entering the tubes on their way to work, and only coming up to the outside world when they return home.

Of the staggering total spent daily by the New York human mole, from $150,000 to $200,000 is spent in nickels for subway fares. The business done in the basements of several huge stores with subway entrances reaches a daily total of about $500,000 with some days far in excess of that huge sum.

At one store, with a gigantic basement capacity, an extensively advertised sale of a single article has resulted in more than $50,000. The amount of business done by patrons entering by subway entrances and making their purchases in other sections of the stores is declared to be beyond accurate calculation.

The additional $300,000 spent by the underground buyer is spent in barber shops, beauty parlors, stationary shops, haberdasheries, myriad cafes, clothing stores, telephone calls, telegraphed messages and shoe shines.
Messages relayed by the telegraph companies from office to office by pneumatic tubes move all day as fast as one can breathe. Telephone calls reach a total equalled only by the incessant ticking of a dozen clocks.

In the Times Square and Grand Central sections of the underground system scores of telephone operators and hundreds of call-box stations and booths complete calls at the rate of hundreds each minute of the business hours of the day. The New York Edison Company and its associated electric light and power companies serving the city have more than 20,000 miles of transmission and distribution cables underground in the greater city, or nearly enough cable to circle the world.

DIAMOND CONTESTS OPEN IN BOYS' WEEK SERIES; CLOSELY CONTESTED GAMES PLAYED BY 6 TEAMS; LAST YEAR'S "CHAMPS" PUT OUT OF RUNNING

Fourth Ward Victors Over Fifth by Overwhelming Score, While Edgely Noses Out Sixth Ward Nine; Croydon Forfeits Its Contest With Third Ward Boys

Fourth Ward trounced the Fifth Ward, 12-3. Edgely nosed out the Sixth Ward, 5-4. Croydon forfeited to the Third Ward, 9-0. The foregoing are the results of the baseball games played yesterday in connection with Boys' Week.

The game played at Edgely was a nip and tuck affair. The teams were close all the way and the final result was a surprise to many who expected the Sixth Ward to come through with flying colors.

It must be remembered that Sam Shire's sixth ward boys won the baseball cup last year and this defeat eliminates them from further Boys' Week baseball competition—that is, for this season.

An error by Stromp with a runner on third base in the eighth inning paved the way for the Edgely victory.
The game was scheduled for seven innings but a tie score necessitated another frame.

The Fifth Ward was no match for the Fourth Ward who bunched their hits and with the aid of walks and errors scored twelve times. Fourteen players saw action for the winners.

When the Croydon team failed to put a team on the field after a long wait by the Third Ward nine, the umpire gave the game to the Bristol team, 9-0.

The other game scheduled between the First and Second Wards will be played today.

ONE ARREST MADE IN HULMEVILLE OUTBREAK

Harry Bartels, of Philadelphia, Held Under Bail By Justice Faust

BORO TO TAKE ACTION

HULMEVILLE, May 1.—A Philadelphia man, Harry Bartels, was arrested by Constable Harry Potter, here, last night, charged with disorderly conduct, the outcome of a gathering of union members and union sympathizers at the Hulmeville Hosier Mill.

A hearing took place early in the evening before Justice of the Peace Samuel K. Faust, the one charged with the offense being held under $300 bail for a further hearing.

Bartels, who gave his address as 6005 Bingham street, Philadelphia, is said to have thrown stones and other missiles at automobiles containing individuals now engaged in work at the plant.

State troopers from the Morrisville barracks, and members of the State Highway patrol were summoned to the borough yesterday afternoon when it was learned by the authorities that union members and sympathizers had planned to be at the mill at closing time.

The number in the group is given at approximately 150. In several instances stones were hurled at workers after they got into their cars, in one instance a windshield being broken.

A face injury was inflicted upon Arthur Kaufman, of Hulmeville, when he was accosted by one of the members of the crowd, who struck him in the face with his fist.

Epitaphs were hurled at both men and women workers, with the group on the union side giving yells at intervals.

Friends of one of the workers, Robert Robinson, from Andalusia, escorted him to his home, with sympathizers of the union people following in their wake. At the Robinson home a gun was needed to back those who had followed presumably for no good reason out of the driveway.

"We are through with the 'soft peddle,'" said one of the borough officers today. "These workers must be protected, and we will see that this is done."

Schofield Again Surrenders To Arrest; Book Hearing

PHILADELPHIA, May 1.—(INS)— Declaring his original arrest early today on charges of impeding justice was illegal and the resultant magistrate's hearing also was illegal, Lemuel Braddock Schofield, head of Philadelphia's police system, surrendered to arrest again today and was booked for another hearing before Magistrate Tommy O'Malley.

After the first hearing when he was ordered committed to Moyamensing prison following failure to post $1500 bail immediately Schofield's aides forcibly ejected the magistrate and all others from the police station where the hearing took place. Schofield then turned his attention to freeing the 200 odd University of Pennsylvania students in the jail following the riots on the Penn campus and nearby streets that caused a renewal of the feud between the magistrate and the director.

After the students had been released with a warning Schofield submitted to the warrant held by Constable John Milburn charging him with obstructing justice by refusing to release the students on copies of the charges. He was slated before the house sergeant of the 32nd street police station and released in custody of Assistant Safety Director Theodore F. Wood for an appearance before Magistrate O'Malley later today.

The first hearing was climaxed by Schofield's refusal to abide by the proceedings and O'Malley's charges that:
"Director Schofield is a drunken dry. A man who drank all his life who is now hollering he is dry."

Miss Mabelle Harrgrave, of Radcliffe street, spent the week-end at the University of Delaware, Newark, Del., visiting friends.

Completed Long Trip In Old Ford Sedan

Leigh Bulmer and family, who left Bristol some weeks ago for Upper Rockport, West County, N. B., Canada, have arrived at their destination safely. The trip was made by automobile as far as Calais, Maine, a distance of 800 miles. At that point it was necessary to store the car as snow made motoring impossible. The party reached their destination the middle of March.

As Mr. Bulmer could not find work in this locality he desired to return to his home, and so with his wife and children left Bristol in a six-year old Ford sedan. The car negotiated the Catskills and Adirondacks well, with its passengers and parcels.

Mr. Bulmer plans to return to Calais when the roads are in better condition, and take the automobile to Upper Rockport.

TWO RUM RUNNERS HELD IN BAIL FOR COURT

Beer Was High-Powered Stuff
According to Report
From Chemist

$1,000 BAIL FOR EACH

The two men who were caught here April 15th with a truck loaded with cases of beer were given a second hearing before Justice Edward Lynn, yesterday afternoon, in Municipal Police Court.

The two were held in $1,000 bail each for the next term of criminal court at Doylestown.

Those held:
Morris Gale, 820 S. Warren street, Trenton, N. J.

Fredie Arthur DeCore, 211 Ferry street, Trenton, N. J.

Both men admitted their guilt when first arrested by Officer Ryan on Farragut avenue, driving a small enclosed truck. There were five cases of beer seized with the truck.

At the hearing yesterday Chief Jones testified that the beer had been analyzed and the chemist stated that sample No. 1 contained 4.78 percent alcohol, sample No. 2, 4.63, and sample No. 3, 4.70 percent alcohol.

The men stated that they were driving for a man named Edward Davies, 117 Bridge street, Trenton, and had been delivering the beer to Bristol consignees.

Interesting Test Given By Frigidaire Dealer

An interesting test has been given demonstration in the show rooms of C. W. Winter, local Frigidaire dealer, during the past week.

A Frigidaire has been surrounded by four 630 kilowatt electric heaters, the heat of which has been directed upon the Frigidaire day and night.
The outside of the Frigidaire has become so hot that one can scarcely place their hand upon it and a thermometer shows an outside temperature of 115 to 120 degrees.

The demonstration test is being made to prove that outside temperature has but little effect on the inside workings and that the porcelain exterior will not chip under intense heat.

Despite the fact that this intense heat was directed on the outside of the Frigidaire the temperature inside registered 34 and ice cubes were as solid as ever.

The test attracted considerable attention and caused many favorable comments.

RATIFYING THE PACT

Haste of the American delegates to the London conference in returning home once the treaty had been signed was largely occasioned by the desire of President Hoover to lay the pact before the Senate at once that ratification may be accomplished before the summer adjournment. The executive's decision is in keeping with the hope of the American public and is in the interest of peace and armament reduction.

Early ratification by the United States will stimulate similar favorable action by the other signatories, and if the Senate fails to act before the summer recess ratification cannot be expected at the earliest until next year. Much can happen in a year to undo the excellent work accomplished in London.

Now that the possibility of delay in presenting the naval pact to the senate has been removed, the questioning mind speculates on what its fate will be in the Senate. There is nothing to indicate anything but early ratification.

During the conference the Senate was most passive on this score, giving no outward appearance of even mild interest in the procedure. And now that its turn at bat has come in the international game it shows no signs of becoming explosive one way or the other.

If the Senate is obedient to the will of the people, it will ratify the London Naval Pact without an argument. And unless the people have been deceived and the Senate debate disillusions them the Senate will find it difficult to withhold its approval of the pact.

NO TAX ON RADIO

Doubts, curiosity and suspicions raised by the census question on radio ownership demanded and have now obtained an explanation from Secretary of Commerce Lamont.

Many radio owners were reluctant to answer the question in the affirmative for fear that it meant some new tax levy. That is not surprising for the people have learned from sad experience that it costs money to admit too much in the presence of government agents.

But radio ownership carries no tax, and all census information is confidential, in case some thoroughgoing tax-assessing body ever thinks up the idea of putting a tube or aerial tax on the family radio.

Nevertheless, accurate information on the radio population is important to both the government and the radio listeners.

The convenience of radio set owners will ultimately be served by exact information on the distribution of radio sets. There can be no intelligent and scientific allocation of wave lengths among the broadcasters without exact facts on how receiving sets are grouped by areas.

SYNOPSIS

David Wade, robbed of his treasure while drunk, is persuaded by the appeals of Stella Blackney, who had cared for him, to take her away with him from New Guinea. She is married to O'Shane, the man who robbed Wade, but has never lived with him. He was not to claim her until the death of her dissipated mother. Following her mother's death, she and David flee to the island of Motogara. Stella has come to love Wade and fears that the half-breed girl, Moira, who wants a white husband, will win him away from her.

She lit the cigarettes and held out her hand. "Goodbye, Mrs. Wade, for the present," she said, and with her loose, crossed step went along the deck. Her natives got down into the canoe. She gave a sharp command to the paddlers. The canoe shot away like a thing alive, and glad to be alive.

Lo-oru and Manna came to Stella. "They good, kind people, those men in the canoe," said Lo-oru.

"They glad that a trader comes here to live," said Manna.

"They gave me a leaf for my hair and to Manna an armshell that goes up to his shoulder, so big is it. Look at it, snabada."

"Yes, I see it," said Stella tonelessly. Lo-oru looked at her quickly and anxiously.

"I think you are sick, snabada, a little bit sick. Your eyes they not proper. Might be it is the fever. Your blood, it feels hot?"

"I am quite well. Leave me!"

Only with an effort did she refrain from shouting the words at them. They went reluctantly. A queer coldness was at her heart. She stared across the water, her island, her dear island, had lost its beauty and charm. It didn't seem the same at all. The canoe was now an indeterminate black something in the distance. Putting off from the village was the cutter's small boat, the white figure of David in the stern. She watched it come closer, grow bigger, saw the shining of the oars.

CHAPTER VI

Despite that the distance still made of David a mere spot of white, she strained to see his face, read his expression. If he had found the island to be all that the crew-boys and the half-breed had said, he would not be easily induced to leave it. He was a difficult man to sway. There was, for instance, the determined resistance he had made to her allurements at Samota. His practicality would regard the leaving of Motogara as absurd and ridiculous. There would be a clash between them.

Well, if it had to be, it had to be! She was determined not to be engulfed again by the chain. As the small boat drew closer, she went to the rail.

And presently David, seeing her, waved a hand, and then his helmet, in boyish, exuberant fashion, and sent across the water a shout of pleasure. She took a steady grip of the rail. Then David had found the island to be suitable!

"Oh!" she breathed; and out of this vocal reaction to the knowledge that her task was to be truly as difficult as she had feared came some of the outward calm for which she had striven; and she was glad of it. She had a feeling of being sure of herself as she watched the boat glide alongside and David climb up on board.

"Sorry I have been so long," he said, as he came eagerly along the deck. "But you know what it is with natives—how they take such a time to say what they have to say, and all the rest of it. Knowing you were so anxious to get ashore, I hurried back as quick as I could."

His eyes were alight with satisfaction. "Our luck is in, Stella! The doubts I had about this island are gone. It is an ideal place. There is everything we want ashore. There—friendly natives, coconuts, every-

POLLYANNA

Of all the cat family the hell-cat is the most detestable.

Did you marry that girl of yours, or do you still cook your own breakfast and mend your own clothes?"

"Yes."

People who let others do their thinking for them usually pay a stiff price for the service.

If my girl said what she thought she'd be speechless.

"You say her father is a southern planter?"

"Yes, he's an undertaker in Alabama."

It is noted with pleasure that the next Congress will be so busy investigating its members that it will have but little time to devote to the business of passing new laws.

"Well, if they put you in a glass bowl, without your swimming suit, you'd turn red, too," protested the goldfish.

I have a little compact that goes in and out with me.

What my friends would do without it, is more than I can see.

AILMENTS FADE BEFORE POWERS OF NEW KONJOLA

Modern Compound Quickly Conquers Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble

MISS SUSAN BENDER

"Konjola was the only medicine that did me any good," said Miss Susan Bender, R. F. D. No. 1, Lancaster.

"For three years I had rheumatism and kidney trouble. The aches and pains caused me much agony. My entire system became weak and run-down. I lost weight and strength steadily. I was only able to sleep a few hours each night."

"That was my condition when I started Konjola. One bottle convinced me that I was on the right track. In three weeks Konjola made a complete change in my health. Those terrible aches and pains are gone entirely. My kidneys are regular and I sleep soundly each night. No wonder Konjola is the most talked of medicine in America."

Konjola's record proves that it makes good in the stubborn cases of young and old. It works wonders when taken over a period of six or eight weeks.

Konjola is sold in Bristol at Hoffman's Cut Rate Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—(Adv.)

Two effective aids help the trained physician make the diagnosis. They are the tuberculin test and the x-ray.

The first discloses the presence of infection, which may and may not mean that the child has what is called "childhood tuberculosis." What it does is to weed out all those who do not react to it, as being in no danger of the disease at the time. The others must be examined further. X-ray pictures are taken of their chests to determine if tuberculosis is actually endangering them.

Emphasis is being placed upon early examination by physicians of children who appear to be below par physically and the prompt treatment of those who give indication of having tuberculosis. For physicians there is available an authoritative 32-page booklet entitled, Childhood Type of Tuberculosis.

Literature and other material are available from county tuberculosis societies or the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society, 311 South Juniper Street, Philadelphia.

KEEP CHILDREN FROM SICK

Too much emphasis cannot be laid on the imperative necessity of separating children from persons who have tuberculosis.

Children are particularly susceptible to infection. When they live in the home with a tuberculous person it is practically certain they will get some of the germs in their lungs. Safety lies only in absolute separation in different environments.

STATE IN THE FIGHT TO SAVE CHILDREN

PROTECT children from tuberculosis is the slogan of a health campaign which is being carried on in April throughout Pennsylvania as part of a nation-wide project.

This health effort is sponsored by the National Tuberculosis Association and in Pennsylvania is directed by the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society in co-operation with its 100 affiliated organizations. These agencies have the co-operation of physicians, public health officials and medical, civic and other organizations interested in the public health and welfare.

The importance of saving children from tuberculosis is emphasized by the fact that tuberculosis is the leading cause of death among Pennsylvania children between the ages of 5 and 20, exclusive of accidents.

"The object is to impress upon parents 'and teachers'," said Dr. H. R. M. Landis, president of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society, "the fact that tuberculosis usually begins in childhood, lies dormant through the first few years of growth, and in early youth, when the strain of life begins to wear down resistance, breaks out as active disease."

"Tuberculosis, which ranks sixth among the leading causes of death in Pennsylvania, greatly outnumbers all other diseases between the ages of 15 and 35. About one-fourth of the deaths of young men and women between the ages of 15 and 25 and about one-fifth of the deaths between 25 and 35 are caused by tuberculosis."

"The most serious feature of this situation is the large number of tuberculosis deaths among girls. Between the ages of 15 and 19 more than twice as many girls as boys die from tuberculosis, and of the total deaths among girls in this age group about one-third is from tuberculosis."

"This heavy toll of tuberculosis in the younger age groups calls for the strongest effort possible to protect children from this disease and lessen the chances of its developing in later years. Prevention is the important factor in this life-saving effort."

"Protecting children from tuberculosis and keeping them healthy is an important step in improving family, home and economic conditions."

Among the Pennsylvania organizations which are co-operating in this effort to save children are the following:

Pennsylvania State Medical Society Pennsylvania State Department of Health American Legion
Kiwanis Club
Graduate Nurse's Association
Knights of Columbus Pennsylvania Congress of Parents and Teachers Pennsylvania Council of Churches Pennsylvania Education Association Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association Pennsylvania Outdoor Advertising Association Pennsylvania Railroad Pennsylvania State Grange State Department of Labor and Industry State Department of Public Instruction State Federation of Labor State Sabbath School Association

When people begin to realize the significance of childhood tuberculosis, they will want to know how these infected children can be detected, and what measures are necessary to help them win the unseen, often unknown struggle going on within their bodies.

PRELIMINARY AUTO RACES AT LANGHORNE TODAY

LANGHORNE, May 1.—Fans living within a radius of fifty miles of here are particularly interested in the younger pilots who are going to strive for one of the places among the eighteen starters who will be selected during the preliminaries and trials to be run off two days before the big auto race here on Saturday, May 3rd.

Firman Lawshe, of Flemington, N. J., has entered and has a big following in New Jersey. Others include Lew Shingle, of Phoenixville, Pa.; Norval Delays, of Seneca Falls, N. Y.; Roy Johnson, of Scranton, and Francis Timm, of Old Forge, Pa.

Although the youngsters are rookies seeking their first tryout there will be many fans in the stands rooting for them to come through against the veteran drivers such as Ralph De Palma, Ira Vail, Deacon Litz, Jimmy Gleason, Zeke Meyer and other world-famous drivers.

The qualifying trials are booked to start at noon today and finish at 5 p. m. May 2, will spell either success or failure for many of the younger entrants. It is in the time trials that the worth of a driver is proven to compete in the 100-mile finals. There are many drivers who are better qualifying pilots than they are competitive racers.

On the other hand, there are others who cannot seem to "get up steam" until the heat of the competition is at the boiling point and the lust for victory seeps through their nerve senses.

Speaking of the younger pilots who have entered the Langhorne championship, Harry Higgins, of New York City, a member of the official body in charge of the races said yesterday:

"At any rate the drivers who have hitherto been inexperienced on the big-league circuit of racing will have the confidence born of a knowledge that the question of whether or not they qualify is one that can only be settled by their own individual efforts, with the track entirely their own for a moment. There will be no competitor for them to keep a 'weather eye' lookout for, and if they slip on the widely banked turns there will be no jam into the speeding path of another car. They are there all alone, to do or fail, and if they do show the speed and ability that only can be settled by the acute mechanism of an electrical timing device that registers their efforts in one-hundredths of a second, then they will have made the grade to start in their first major competition alongside of the greatest stars of the game."

EDGELY

Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Rue, of Radcliffe street; Mr. and Mrs. John Wisner, of Bristol, visited Mr. and Mrs. Victor Morgan, in Hightstown, N. J., on Sunday.

Misses Eva Stephen and Alberta Lofthouse, of Philadelphia, were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Garretson, of Edgely avenue.

Alma, Lydia and Aline Wright, of Edgely avenue, visited in Philadelphia on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Greenhalge, of Philadelphia, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Michel, of Radcliffe street.

Mrs. John Firman, Sr., of Woodside avenue, is confined in the Episcopal Hospital, Philadelphia, where she underwent an operation on Wednesday.

And this huge total doesn't include a construction program for this year that will involve expenditures of $75,848,053, all of which will improve the underground service of the companies.

Still another huge source of revenue is the 300 newsstands at the stations of the subway lines. According to the agents twenty per cent of the newsstand circulation of the city's newspapers and periodicals is sold underground, with the percentage jumping to around thirty per cent in bad weather. The several hundred vending machines at the stations yield a harvest of pennies that can be measured only in terms of "by the bushel."

The New Yorker's bill for tips at barbershops, bootblack stands, for manicures and at the numerous underground cafes also reaches a total far beyond calculation. At one of the largest cavern barber shops employing nearly a score of hair-cutting experts, a barber declared it was a poor day for tips if he didn't average three dollars. A waitress at one of the big underground restaurants said the day was a total loss if she didn't get an equal amount, with some days boosting the amount to five dollars.

Bootblacks admitted they were lucky if they averaged a dollar a day, the amount of the tips in this case being a nickel, with an occasional dime.

With the city going still higher and higher in the sky, New York City's engineers assert the development underground is developing in equal proportion, with a greater necessity of burrowing into the earth to care for additional traffic problems. They assert with the arrival of the sky-piercing building, each pouring a horde of workers into the streets during the heavy hours of the day, travel, the difficulty of providing safe transportation, has been increased. They also declare that the necessity of reaching underground for relief has caused the necessity of digging still deeper.

Their Achievements Mark Aviation Progress

The transcontinental speed record has been the goal of noted aviators ever since the pioneer days of aviation. Above is pictured the various transcontinental flights made since 1912 when R. C. Fowler blazed the trail with various stops, making the first flight across the American Continent. Los Angeles to New York eighteen years later was the great achievement of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in 14 hours, 45 minutes and 32 seconds.
